OAKLAND TO FIGHT CHANGE IN NAVY BASE

Oakland purposes to be represented at any hearing the naval affairs committee of Congress may give as the result of the announced attempt of Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco to have altered, in favor of Hunter's point, the decision of the naval base commission in selection of the Alameda site. There was sent today to Congressman J. Arthur Elston of Alameda county and to Congressman William Keener of San Diego and Clifton N. McArthur of Oregon, both of the latter being prominent members of the naval affairs committee, the following telegram:

"Local papers announce that Mayor Rolph is on way to Washington to insist upon ignoring Helm report and locating naval base at Hunter's point. Should the naval affairs committee agree to give Rolph a hearing we want to be notified and given an opportunity of sending representative to Washington."

"Secretary Oakland Chamber of Commerce."

There is not much disposition on the part of Oakland business men to discuss publicly the action of Mayor Rolph.

THURSTON HALL SAYS:

"It was my good fortune to be chosen by Victor Herbert and Joseph Weber of Weber and Fields, to play the male star part in the original New York production of 'The Only Girl' at the Hudson theater, where this wonderful play ran for 282 nights. I think it is a remarkable play. I believe I am qualified to criticize the play when produced by others now."

"Yesterday I was at the Fulton Theater and witnessed the brilliant performance of 'The Only Girl,' given by Nana Bryant and Paul Harvey and the forty other members of the Fulton Players. It was glorious—perfect—a delight."

"I congratulate Stage Director Knox upon an extraordinary production of this Victor Herbert play."

"It is the finest thing I have seen in years, and is in every respect equal if not superior to the New York production of this wonderful play."

"Oakland should be proud of these Fulton players, for they are the most brilliant organization I have seen in any city from East to West during the last ten years."

June Comes in Hot; Records For Month Are All Smashed

Beaches, Parks and Countryside Are Jammed With Crowds; Warm Spell Continues

"Eighty-eight degrees," said Oakland's thermometer.

"Phew!" said Oakland.

"It's the hottest day in years and years," said the Oldest Inhabitant, as he has said every year since Oakland first built a city hall and a car line.

"Very muggy weather," said the round one, who sought cooling drafts of amber brew as the sun climbed higher and higher.

At all of which is incidental to the fact that the arrival of June brought with it Old Sol in all his potency. June 1st was the hottest day to date, and as a result beaches, parks and shady spots in the hills were crowded with parties were everywhere when anything cast a shadow, and swimming and cold drinks were the order of the frizzling Sunday.

BEACH CROWDS LARGE.
Beach resorts broke all records for attendance and Lakeside Park saw a great crowd. Smaller parks were thickly spread with Sunday visitors, and extra boats had to be requisitioned to handle the heavy automobile traffic on the bay.

Yesterday was fair and warm—and today will be fair and probably warmer, according to the Weather Bureau. The day of the straw hat and the white flannel trousers and D. V. D.'s is here!

According to Weather Forecaster E. A. Beas, yesterday has only been beaten for temperature by October 2 of 1917, when the maximum was 85 degrees.

NIGHT GIVES RELIEF.

A light breeze off the Pacific toward evening reduced yesterday's temperature and made the night ideal. Theater crowds last night were comfortable and moonlight auto parties were many.

Ferry traffic in automobiles broke all records. The harbor ferry at the foot of Broadway handled 1500 machines yesterday, and extra boats had to be run to take care of the long waiting lines of motors. Sausalito saw the same condition, and the Redco ferry was run to capacity. The Northwestern Pacific boats beween San Francisco and Sausalito carried 1032 autos. More than 25,000 visited San Jose yesterday, according to the estimate of the traffic bureau there. Every State highway was busy and Alameda Rock park was crowded all day.

That the warm wave will mean millions to California farmers was said today by the weather bureau experts. It means speedy ripening of late peach crops and other fruits and means heavy activity in packing houses and canneries at once.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Five men were dead here today as a result of the heat wave which has held Chicago in its grip for two days. A maximum temperature of 85 degrees was reported in some quarters.

Many bathers thronged the beaches and thousands of children waded in the parks and in playground pools yesterday.

FIVE DEAD IN CHICAGO.
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 2.—Flood conditions prevailed in parts of Nebraska today following a downpour of rain which in places exceeded three inches. At Lincoln the fall was slightly over two and a half inches. Near Ashland the bottom lands are flooded and railroad tracks washed over. The Platte river at that place is rising rapidly.

There was a wash-out on the line of the Burlington railroad between Lincoln and Crete, making traffic unsafe on the main line of the road and trains for the west were routed at Lincoln by way of Aurora. At Beatrice a high wind accompanied the early stages of the storm and wheat fields were leveled. Small streams to the east of Lincoln are out of their banks.

MARYSVILLE, June 2.—Yesterday was the hottest day experienced here in years. The temperature reached 100 degrees. Thousands of dollars' worth of damage to grain and fruit crops of Yuba and Sutter counties is feared.

SAYS DREW SOUGHT BRIBE, LIBEL CHARGED

Application for warrants charging criminal libel were made today by Night Captain of Inspectors James T. Drew, following a statement before the city council by Albert J. Armstrong, an attorney, that Drew had "solicited a bribe of $5 a week" from Jacob Schiffman, a second-hand clothing dealer, whose license was revoked last Wednesday by the council.

Armstrong, Schiffman's attorney, appeared before the council to ask that his client's license be reinstated. The council had revoked the permit on recommendation of Chief of Police J. P. Lynch, who reported that the dealer had loaned money on a suit of clothes, sold it before it should have been out of pawn, and that he had not made a record of the transaction.

DREW IS ACCUSED.
"I have made a careful investigation," said Armstrong, "and find the following to be the facts: Jacob Schiffman, a second-hand clothing dealer, solicited a bribe of $5 a week from my client. This was refused. My client has been in trouble with the police ever since."

"Do you want us to hold a trial here, or what?" interrupted Mayor Davis. "If this is a matter of a license, remove the question to the city council. If you want to make charges against the police, take them to court."

Commissioner F. F. Morse said that in his opinion the license matter was a closed issue. "If Schiffman wants to apply for a new license we can take his application and investigate it," he said.

"If there are any charges against the police we would like to hear them," said Chief of Police Lynch. "Well, I regret to take this action," said Armstrong, "but to lay a foundation for court action, I hereby make formal application for reinstatement of this license."

"All right, go ahead—we've heard enough," said Davis. "Do you expect us to take your word against the chief of police and these officers?"

LIBEL IS CHARGED.
After the council meeting, Drew, together with John Deaton and John Mulhern of the pawnshop detail, applied for a warrant charging criminal libel.

"We will take the matter up with District Attorney Ezra Decoto," said Donahue. "We will cite Armstrong and Schiffman to appear and see if they can substantiate the charges. If they cannot, of course we will issue a warrant."

Schiffman operated a second hand store at 481 1/2 St. and, according to a complaint against him, offered by Lynch, was acted on last Wednesday by the council. His charges, Captain Walter J. Peterson, head of the pawnshop bureau, today designated as "a frame up" in the council meeting.

PROTEST LAID OVER.
The "frame up" laid over the protest of the Ebell Club against the construction of a garage adjoining its clubhouse on Harrison street. Commenced preventing the work being done could be taken under the ordinance covering the matter is amended.

"We have no right, perhaps, to hold up the permit, pending an ordinance amendment," said Morse, "but I am going to do it, because my brother-in-law happens to be interested in the garage plan, and I therefore cannot afford to let it go through over a protest."

The union was engaged on routine street work and claims.

Daughter Witnesses Father's Drowning
While his daughter watched from shore, a man, identified as C. S. Lillison, 6121 Racine street, was drowned in the surf at Willow Camp, near Bolinas. It was reported here today.

The Bolinas life saving crew, summoned by the girl's alarm, reached the body too late for resuscitation. Lillison was seized with cramps shortly after entering the water. His daughter, on shore, saw him battling with the surf, and called for aid. She was forced to watch from where she was.

A "drowning alarm" came from the same place Saturday night, when searchers hunted for Henry Outridge, who had been reported missing after having gone swimming. In the meantime the boys turned up. They had gone to sleep on the beach.

Bank Robbery Effort is Traced by Soap
Sheriff Frank Barnett and Detective Joe Soares discovered evidence today in San Francisco that Frank Lederman, one of the men involved in the Hadley burglary last Monday, was responsible for the attempt to rob the Bank of Niles some three weeks ago. The effort to dynamite the safe in the Niles bank was unsuccessful because the nitro-glycerine did not entirely explode. When the sheriff's deputies went to investigate they found wires which corresponded to the wires found in the room occupied by Lederman in San Francisco. A quantity of soap of the same composition as that used in the Niles job was also found in the room.

Wires Assurances on Ship Contracts
SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, telegraphed the board of supervisors today that San Francisco need not fear "ruthless cancellation of shipping contracts" because of the conference with shipping men in Washington will terminate satisfactorily to all concerned.

The telegram was in answer to a resolution recently passed by the supervisors, in which the shipping board was requested to save the shipbuilding contracts on the Pacific coast.

Beekeepers to Hear Talk by E. R. Root
Bee keepers of Alameda county will hold their regular meeting tomorrow night instead of Friday, as that date may be in address by E. R. Root, country. Root, who is editor of Gleanings in Bee Culture, will be in Oakland on his way home. His home is in the southern part of the state. The meeting tomorrow night will be held in Hotel Oakland.

U.C. SENIORS IN FAREWELL PILGRIMAGE

BERKELEY, June 2.—Tinged by a touch of sadness, the annual pilgrimage of the senior class at the University of California was held this morning on the campus by the 386 students who will receive diplomas next Wednesday morning. Stops were made by the long procession of departing students at all of the familiar buildings and landmarks, with members of the class speaking the farewell of the graduates.

At South Hall, where the late Professor Henry Morse Stephens voiced the farewell of the university to graduating classes for more than a quarter of a century, the students stood with bowed heads for a silent moment. No speaker was named to take the place of the much-loved scholar whose parting words carried inspiration and godspeed to graduates of other years.

WOMEN IN WHITE. Attired in traditional white, with white parasols shading their heads from the warm sun, the several hundred women students made a pretty picture as they wended their way through the tree-shaded paths of the campus. Tied on their parasols were long streamers of green ribbon, the class color. The men of the class broke a campus tradition this year by wearing their senior robes instead of white straw hats. White flannel trousers and dark coats completed their costume.

Headed by the cadet band and by officers of the senior class, the procession started at 9 o'clock this morning from senior men's hall in Strawberry canyon. From there the procession wended with various stops to La Conte oak, where the seniors dispersed.

Following were the speakers at the various buildings and landmarks: Senior Men's Hall, J. F. White; Senior Women's Hall, Grace Stearns; Henry Hall, Capt. Steel; Chemistry building, Dwight Bardwell; Campaigne, A. M. Brown; Civil Engineering building, G. L. Henderson; Mining building, H. C. Whittlesey; Mechanical building, A. R. Johnson; Library, Ruth Ware; California Hall, F. F. Hargrave; Boat Hall, J. H. Nuland; Wheeler Hall, J. C. Raphael; Harmon gymnasium, H. B. Synes; Senior oak, C. H. Sulist.

Rev. Fred Goodsell, graduate of the University of California with the class of 1906, was announced today as the chaplain for the commencement day exercises to be held Wednesday morning at the Greek Theater. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler will be the speaker of the day, delivering his address, "The Governor William D. Stephens" will be present to award military commissions.

Throughout the graduation exercises will hold the senior class in the field of the day, directed by a committee headed by Walter Schilling.

The annual baccalaureate sermon was preached at the principal of the ceremonies yesterday by Rabbi Martin A. Meyer of San Francisco.

WAR'S AFTERMATH. Dr. Meyer said in part: "Whether all of this destruction of war can ever be justified is not for us to say, but this much must be accepted as fact, that there must be some gains of a large nature that the sacrifices shall not have been in vain."

"Take it all in all, I feel that there can be no question that the experience of the war—particularly the experiences of the front—deepened the spiritual faith and qualities of men. There are exceptions, many no doubt, but they are more the exception than the rule. The general truth of this statement is that the clouded day of the fact of the war-shining sun."

I know there are those who speak of the danger of a reaction in spirit that religion has and will have upon the souls of men. College men and college women here have their greatest opportunity for service and leadership. There may be reaction, but we know that the returned soldiers are never the same old soldiers as before the revolution. Even the farm something.

I do not know that formal and organized religion will suffice to express the new faith that is in man. It is wise, it will readjust itself to these new demands. It may have to sacrifice cherished forms and conventions. Preaching may have to take on new forms and new content. It may cease delving into the fields of metaphysics and return to the field of the spirit. It may be that new forms must be devised to express the new spirit. It is difficult to prognosticate in the field of spirit all things.

Primarily, am I anxious to see the democratic spirit which prevailed in the army, and particularly in the trenches, preserved in the forms and institutions of our modern institutions. I take it we shall have to stress certain God ideas rather than others to accomplish this and even in part Kings in a day when kings are held in more or less contempt, had better be substituted for by friend, father, comrade. Preachers will have to lose much of their former authority in form, but spirit. Heaven must live with men as they walk on earth and not when they are about to be translated on high.

OLD SPIRITUAL TRUTH. I think, too, that we shall have to restate these spiritual truths in a manner conformable to the experiences of our new industrial life. There never yet was a ritual religion which did not to some extent appropriate to the life of the day.

I confess I don't know how we are going to do it, to express steam and steel iron and coal, factories and railroads so that they shall express the spirit which is in men, which is in themselves. It may be that the time is not yet ripe; that we have not ourselves risen to the heights wherefrom the purpose of these things. But we cannot long tolerate this dissonance between daily experience and occupation, and the religious life which in form is so far removed from the actual life of the world. It is further reaching that the establishment of churches for the working classes. Even these cannot make their utmost appeal so long as we direct attention to Zion and Jordan away from Lawrence and Pittsburgh. May I lay this down as a problem for the genius of some member of a class like this who knows the thought of the world and having experienced the pains of the struggle for bread in factory or mine, shall rise to the possibilities of the new statement of religious truth for the centuries yet unborn, but which we feel must go their way more in cities and towns than beside babbling brooks or in the cooling shade of the untraced forests.

TASK FOR WORLD. "And one thing more I should like to suggest as a task for the religious world, directly born, too, out of the reopening of life of the past few years—the creation of a real League of Religions for the immediate future. I have the feeling that there have been forebodings of it. There has been created here in America the Federation of Churches, there has been much talk of an approachment between the Greek and the Anglican churches; there has been that splendid commission which has just waited upon the Pope for a union between the Roman and Anglican churches."

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging down pains in my back, could not get around to do any work and had to sit down and rest often during the day. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials. I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did."—Mrs. ELIZABETH MAY, R. F. D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming women's ills is because it contains the tonic strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

Coads of the graduating class of the University of California snapped by a TRIBUNE photographer as they strolled in the annual pilgrimage to points of historic interest on the campus as part of today's graduation exercises. Below is MISS CAROLYN STEEL, who made the pilgrimage address at Hearst Hall.

Contest Over Estate of "King of Sahara"

MINEOLA, L. I., June 2.—A contest over the estate of Jacques Lebaudy, so-called "King of the Sahara," and reputed millionaire, who was shot to death by his wife at Phoenix Lodge, near Westbury, L. I., last January, was begun here today.

Maria Theresa Jeanne Lebaudy, who claims to be Lebaudy's sister, alleges that Margaret Lebaudy was not the legal wife of Jacques Lebaudy and that 13-year-old Jacqueline Lebaudy is not Lebaudy's daughter.

Mrs. Company of New York, Cummings has resided in Oakland over three years.

Such a Little Thing!

TEA is such a little thing that we never stop to think how intimate a part it plays in our daily lives and what a wholesome influence fine tea exerts upon our restful moments.

Would you like to get more enjoyment out of tea? And if that greater pleasure can actually be enjoyed for less money than you are now paying for tea, would you like to know about it? Isn't this worth a little thought?

When people think about tea, they forget that tea-leaves contain tannin as well as tea-flavor. Tannin, you know, is an acid found in all kinds of leaves and is used to tan leather. Tannin may be all right for leather, but not for the delicate tissues of the stomach. It injures digestion and is hard on the nerves. Besides, it isn't tea—that harsh puckery taste isn't tea.

People don't want tannin of course. They want tea-flavor which gives enjoyment, gentle stimulation, rest and cheer. That is the charm and value of tea—and the only thing worth buying.

Common tea, which comes from the older leaves of the tea-plant, has only a small amount of tea-flavor—and coarse flavor at that. The main strength of common tea is tannin.

Finetea, which comes from the young tender leaves of the tea-plant, is rich in sap and fine tea-flavor. It has only a very small proportion of tannin, and even that is avoided by proper making at home.

Now the tea in the cup can't be any better than the tea on the bush. A coarse leaf makes poor tea; and all the money you pay to bring it over here doesn't make it a bit better.

The costs of getting tea from the tea-plant to your kitchen are heavy: there is picking, grading, firing, packing, sending over in ships, and a lot more—20 or 30 things to be done, and each one costs money. All together these costs are more than two-thirds of the price you pay for common tea.

You are now ready to understand something that we have not dared ask you to believe before—and that is:

Fine tea is actually cheaper than common tea. It is much stronger in real tea-flavor, and makes a great many more cups to the pound. The result is that a cup of fine tea, like Schilling Tea, costs less than tea selling at 15 to 20 cents less.

This is astonishing but true; and the thing that makes it true is the great cost of getting tea to you from the tea-plant. You have to pay this cost for common tea, with half tea-strength, just the same as you would pay it for fine tea with full tea-strength you get. It isn't worth this high cost to bring over poor tea with so little tea-flavor.

So you see that after all, getting full tea-enjoyment is more a matter of knowledge and good judgment than it is a matter of money.

Schilling Tea is the fine economical practical tea of this country. It is rich in tea-flavor and costs only 1/3 of a cent per cup. It is the cheapest drink next to water.

Isn't it pleasant to know that the comfortable social pleasure of enjoying fine tea is open to everyone?

MRS. HEAD ON SHORT TRIP TO GIVE LECTURE

Mrs. Frances Aletheia Head, lecturer, actress and mindreader, defendant in an insanity hearing before a jury in the Superior Court, and whose conduct of her case as her own attorney has attracted attention to the proceedings, took French leave from the Receiving Hospital, where she was confined, yesterday just before noon and was located in San Francisco by Deputy Sheriff Ed Barrett last night at midnight near Jones and Eddy streets, walking to her hotel.

Mrs. Head, according to Barrett, considered her escape a great joke and said she had no intention of not reporting for the hearing at 10 o'clock today.

Judge Lin S. Church, before whom the hearing is being held, instructed the balliffs to give the defendant as great a liberty as possible, because of the stress of the trial. Dr. O. D. Flamin, head of the hospital staff, gave permission for her to be taken out for airings by the nurses, and on trips around Lake Merritt. So normal was her conduct, she was deemed safe to allow her considerable watching she was away.

She was returned to this hospital about 1 o'clock this morning. Her escape from the Emergency hospital, she told the hospital staff, where she tried to secure a candle, and falling, went to another church where she obtained the candle. Then she went to San Francisco.

She gave a lecture in the Native Sons' hall in San Francisco on "Abstruse Metaphysics," although the lecture was poorly attended, as during her lecture she held the lighted candle in her hand high above her head, symbolical of the new knowledge she taught. She had not been announced.

Here Is One Thing That Is Absolutely Impossible

Rheumatism Has Never Been Cured by Liniments or Lotions, and Never Will Be.

You never knew of Rheumatism—that most painful source of suffering—being cured by liniments, lotions or other external applications. And you will never see anything but temporary relief afforded by such makeshifts.

But why be satisfied with temporary relief from the pangs of pain which are sure to return with increased severity, when there is permanent relief within your reach? Science has proven that Rheumatism is a disordered condition of the blood. How then can satisfactory results be expected from any treatment that does not reach the blood, the seat of the trouble, and the system of the cause of the disease?

S. S. S. is one blood remedy that has for more than fifty years been giving relief to even the most aggravated and stubborn cases of Rheumatism. It cleanses the blood and purifies the system. The experience of others who have taken S. S. S. will convince you that it will promptly reach your case. You can obtain S. S. S. at any drug store.

A valuable book on Rheumatism and its treatment, together with explanatory advice about your individual case, will be sent absolutely free. Write today to Medical Department, Swift Specific Co., 250 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

BREAKDOWN CAUSES SUICIDE OF FINANCIER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—A nervous breakdown, said by associates in the banking world to have been caused by overwork during the Victory Loan campaign, was the reason for the suicide of Albert L. Langerman, secretary of the Anglo-London, Paris National Bank and one of the most prominent financiers in local banking circles, who was found dead today in his apartment at the Argonaut Club, First and Powell streets, with a bullet wound in his temple.

On his dresser Langerman left the following unsigned note: "I cannot stand the suffering any longer. I realize this is a cowardly act, but I cannot see any relief or help from this terrible condition I am in. May God and my people forgive me."

Langerman, who was 55 and unmarried, is survived by relatives in New York city and Los Angeles. He recently broke down but continued his work until a week ago in spite of the advice of physicians and friends who wished him to leave the city and go to the mountains for a complete rest. The body was found lying across the bed, clad only in pajamas, the right hand clutching a revolver.

MAJORITY IS FOR PRIVATE R.R. OWNERSHIP

NEW YORK, June 2.—Public opinion is strongly in favor of an early return of the railroads to their owners, as shown by the vote of nearly 6000 editors of daily and weekly newspapers throughout the country. A questionnaire sent to every editor in the country (18,424) brought replies from 5922, or 44 per cent, and 83 per cent of the editors reported their communities in favor of a resumption of private management.

The questionnaire was conducted on behalf of the Association of Railway Executives.

Editors were asked not to give their personal opinions, but to appraise the sentiment in their communities.

That public opinion on the railroad question is not divided on party lines is plain from a study of the vote in the various states. In Texas, for example, although only three of the 331 editors replying

AVIATORS DROP FLOWERS ON U. S. SOLDIER GRAVES

COBLENZ, Prussia, May 20.—Every grave of the 1033 officers and men who have died in Rhinish Prussia since the Americans marched into the occupied area last December, was decorated today. At the cemeteries near Treves and Coblenz military exercises were held in which aviators took part by dropping flowers from their planes.

The graves of twenty American prisoners who died during the war also were decorated.

are Republicans, the number in favor of a return of the roads is 88 per cent, considerably higher than the percentage (84 per cent) in the strong Republican state of Pennsylvania.

Tennessee voted 97 per cent as compared with 83 per cent in Maine. Of the 5922 replies, 2952 were from Republican papers, 1689 from Democratic and 2151 independent and scattering.

The strongest sentiment against government ownership was found to be in New England and the South, sections widely apart in political sentiment. Only 4 per cent of New England editors and 7 per cent of Southern editors reported their people favoring government ownership.

On the question of the return of the roads the New England editors voted 91 per cent in favor, 6 per cent no, with 3 per cent doubtful and blank.

U.S. MEN ASK TO PRESENT IRISH CLAIMS

PARIS, June 2.—Frank P. Walsh and Edward F. Dunne, representing Irish societies, have directed a letter to President Wilson, saying that their instructions provide that, if regularly chosen representatives of Ireland are not given an opportunity to present Ireland's case to the peace conference, they should do so.

"We therefore petition you," the letter said, "to use your good offices to obtain for us a hearing before the four great powers so that we may discharge the duty imposed on us by the Philadelphia convention."

The writers explain carefully that they do not hold, nor do they claim to hold, any authority from the people of Ireland.

OPPOSES ARTICLE X

In the letter Walsh tells the President he fears the evil effects which might follow the inclusion of Article X in the covenant of the League of Nations in its present form. (This article binds the signatory powers to uphold and respect the territorial integrity and independence of other powers.) Walsh points out the dangers of this article as follows:

1.—Nations and peoples claiming age-old territorial integrity of their own would ipso facto be forced under the authority of other nations without a hearing.

2.—A people, the vast majority of whom are devoted to the principles of free government, such as ours, could be forced under the rule of monarchies or military autocracies.

WOULD CHOKE LIBERTY

2.—That the signatory powers, including our own country, would be bound after the adoption of Article X to prevent the giving of aid by outside advocates of liberty to oppressed nations, which practice has obtained among civilized nations from time immemorial.

4.—That powerful signatories, including our country, might be compelled to wage war for the preservation of territorial integrity, no matter how unjust or oppressive, in any part of the world.

DUBLIN, June 2.—"The Sinn Fein organization knows how to continue its fight," declared Prof. de Valera, president of the Irish republic, in an address last night.

De Valera admitted a reverse for the Sinn Feiners in Paris, where they have been trying to secure recognition from the peace conference, but declared that parliament had no other policy to substitute.

MARCONI SUIT AGAINST NAVY UP TOMORROW

Seven million dollars in claims and damages, $4,000,000 of them before the United States Court of Claims, and the right of many transmissible and valuable patents to use wireless sets are involved in the case of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company against the Kilburn and Clark Wireless Company of Seattle.

The suit will be heard tomorrow in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco for oral argument on a dual appeal from the United States District Court in Seattle.

In the original suit the Marconi Company claimed patent infringement on certain of its transmitting and receiving apparatus features and set the monetary damage at approximately $2,000,000. The United States navy was jointly charged with using some of the patents claimed exclusively by the Marconi Company and a pleading for $4,000,000 damages was filed in the Court of Claims. The action was started in August, 1915.

DECISION IS COMPROMISE.

The Kilburn and Clark Company held that there was no infringement as it used a transmitting and receiving apparatus entirely distinct from plaintiff company. On December 11, 1916, the Seattle court adjudged that certain of the claims of the Marconi Company regarding what are known as the Oliver J. Lodge patents were sustained, but that the patent right had expired and no damages should be forthcoming. Certain other patent claims of the Marconi Company were declared valid, but it was held that there was no infringement on the part of defendant company.

The defendant company appealed from that portion of the decree which sustained the Marconi patents. The plaintiff appealed because the court held the defendant's apparatus did not infringe on the Marconi mechanism.

The navy department secured a postponement of the hearing until after April 9, 1919, "if the war should be over at that time," as it felt a prior judgment might affect its war activity. A motion was entered to set aside the judgment of April 7, 1919, by the Marconi Company asking for an immediate hearing.

The navy department, through Franklin Roosevelt, assistant secretary, resisted, saying the war was not yet over. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer held that the action should be heard at once and their respective claims were presented to the court. In settling the case for June 3 and 4 the court virtually adjudged that the war has come to an end.

The case will be continued further through the installation and working of the opposing wireless sets in the courtroom.

Technically the case revolved around this contention:

The Marconi apparatus contains a closed primary oscillating circuit and an open oscillating circuit, the two inductively coupled and tuned each other effecting wireless transmission. The Kilburn and Clark apparatus, according to the defendant claims, contains a non-oscillating primary circuit not inductively coupled to an open oscillating circuit. The Marconi claims that there is an inductive coupling in the opposing mechanism and therein lies the infringement.

A judgment for the Marconi Company would mean collection of the damages mentioned and the stripping of many big vessels and business concerns of apparatus containing the questioned patents. A judgment for the Kilburn and Clark Company would mean a loss of the Marconi wireless claims and the right of the defendant corporation to enter generally into the wireless business.

Company of Oakland

Announces Its Opening

Monday, June 2, 1919

814 BROADWAY - TELEPHONE OAK. 6293

This corporation has an authorized capital of $100,000; offered and managed by local business men and labor representatives, who will confine their business solely to financing the wage-earners of Oakland and vicinity. It has for its purpose not alone the making of money, but also the refinancing of the wage-earner, who through some reason or other, has fallen behind in his financial obligations; to men and women who, through sickness or non-employment, have not been able to meet their daily expenses; those who owe the butcher, grocer, druggist and doctor; whose debts are widely scattered, will be aided in this institution. We lend in sums of $10 up to $500 to wage-earners at 6 per cent per annum, and loans may be obtained without red tape, long vexatious delays; no assignment of salaries or pledges, but on the sole security of character and earning capacity.

This company believes that the wage-earner is entitled to share in that which he creates, and each borrower is invited to join in this co-operative system. This is the only institution in this city that will finance wage-earners and allow them to participate in the profits, and if you are in need of funds for immediate necessities, and would like indebtedness with us, to centralize all your and place yourself on a cash basis in the self-same way that the business men do with their banking connections, a call at our office will merit you this opportunity. If you are honest you can obtain a loan from us on the same terms as though you were a property holder.

It is the aim and object of this institution to become an active aid in the growth and prosperity of this city by removing the shackles of debt from the wage-earners, and make better citizens of those unfortunates who have been held back and hampered through financial difficulties.

If you are not a borrower, and care to invest in this meritorious enterprise, we have two forms of investment, which are very attractive, and which may be purchased on the installment plan. There is no essence of speculation in this concern. Our funds are loaned only to wage-earners, who have been investigated as to their honesty, to supply their immediate needs. Debt is not encouraged, but is not dishonorable. Over fifty millions have been loaned in the United States in the past year in similar institutions to thousands of wage-earners, with a loss ratio of less than one-tenth of 1 per cent, which is less than commercial banks.

Our certificates pay 6 per cent semi-annually, and may be redeemed on thirty days' notice without forfeiture or fines. You are cordially invited to participate as a borrower or investor.

NATIVE SONS TAX CAPACITY OF YOSEMITE

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, June 2.—All records have been broken in the Yosemite National Park with the arrival of some 2,000 delegates and friends of the Native Sons of the Golden State at the 1919 Grand Parlor in addition to the thousands of tourists who have come in earlier than usual this season. Every hotel and camp is taxed to its utmost and the federal authorities have thrown open the pavilions and recruited all the blankets and bedding possible to accommodate the visitors. Friday 30 machines reached the door of the valley. Saturday 150 machines came in. With the arrival of the last stage last night from El Portal all the delegates to the Grand Parlor had arrived. This morning they were ready for business at the opening session at 10:30 o'clock in the government pavilion.

CABU ONE OF LAST.
William L. Cabu, who will succeed W. F. Toomey as grand president, was among the last to arrive. Toomey has issued a proclamation that "the Grand Parlor session will this year be in the nature of a thanksgiving offering for the terrible war is over and our boys are coming home fast." Nevertheless, the serenity of the "thanksgiving offering" is being broken by an interesting political fight between Harry G. Williams, auditor of Oakland, and Edward J. Lynch of San Francisco for the third vice presidency, leading finally to the office of grand president.

The choice of seven grand trustees from a list of fourteen candidates is being cast by the otherwise quiet session, in which a number ofameda county men are participating. Lieutenant James Krull of Martinez was scheduled to make his second flight into the valley during the day, landing at Lehigh Meadows in compliment to the Native Sons. With a motion picture man as companion, a record of the air trip will be kept.

RECEPTION IN MERCED.
Yosemite Parlor of Merced, the official host to the Grand Parlor, gave a brilliant reception in Merced yesterday. A full band of bay cities and Merced musicians accompanied the first of the two specials to leave for the park and greeted the delegates upon their arrival. They gave a band concert last night which will be repeated each evening during the week. Bronze souvenirs are being distributed among the 500 accredited delegates.

Past Grand Presidents are entertaining themselves at a banquet last night. Dancing and fireball at Glacier Point will lend the diversion to the later evening. At a 7 o'clock program Grand President W. F. Toomey will deliver his formal address of welcome to the Native Sons. W. B. Lewis, superintendent of the Yosemite National Park is announced for the lecture on the Valley.

No session of the Grand Parlor is announced for tomorrow, which will be given over to merry-making. A basket luncheon at Happy Isles will be enjoyed at noon.

Business sessions will be held Wednesday and Friday. Excursions through Yosemite Valley will be taken on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Elections will be held Friday.

News of the Churches

Last night, speaking at the South Berkeley Christian church on "Christ and World Peace," Rev. J. A. Shop-laugh, said:
"One hundred years ago, the holy alliance was in full power in Europe. It had all the imperial and autocratic governments to back up its demands. The world said: 'Now we shall have peace.' No one will dare dispute the mandates of the holy alliance. Jesus said: 'Not as the world steth peace, give I unto you. But in me ye shall find peace.'"

"When the king of Spain returned to his throne he found the South American colonies had slipped away from him, and he appealed to the holy alliance to recover them. He was not by the declaration known as the Monroe Doctrine. It was a challenge, a test of the power of the alliance. It fell like a house of cards, because it lacked its first principle, union."

"The old prophet saw a day when there should be no more war. The President dreamed of a reign of peace in the near future. Jesus points the way. 'Not as the world gives but as ye will find peace.' The league of nations is the world plan and will go far toward preparing all the people for peace, but there are elements that must enter into the league. It is the unfinished task for the church."

"The angels sang over the sleeping Savior: 'Peace on earth, good will among men.' The church must go forth with a burning message of good will among men of 'love for your enemies' of 'forgive and forget.' The church must lead the people to Christ for in Him alone will the precept of vision and the President's dream be carried out on earth."

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL.
Rev. Roy M. Guild, D. D., of New York city, secretary of the National Church Federation, found a congenial atmosphere for the presentation of his theme, "The Next Steps in Church Unity," at the Plymouth Congregational church, Sunday night. He was introduced by the pastor, Dr. C. L. Kloss, with whom Christian Union is a passion and whose ideal is not a federated but a united church.

Dr. Guild based his address on Christ's expressed desire to gather together the children of Jerusalem as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wing, and his prayer that his followers might be one that the world might believe. The speaker said "that the divisions of Israel had defeated Jesus in his personal ministry and to this day there were three great denominations in Christ's day—Pharisees, Sadducees and Herodians—each party believing it was the special custodian of God's truth. Jesus could have been prominent in any one of them but he was too broad for them and they were united only in their hatred of Him."

"We are eager for the universality of the reign of Jesus. The condition of universality is the unity of His principles," Paul rebuked the Corinthians for being divided and called after men.

"Mohammedans swept over the walls of Constantinople because of the jealousies of Christian sects.
"A disbelieving America is the price of a divided church. There are 200 denominations in the United States. One of them is so small that it only has twelve members all told."

"In one little cross-roads town of three churches sustained by national boards a good quartet could not be gotten together because the four good singers belonged to different organizations and the church lost the respect of the better class. In Hinewatin, Kansas, a town of 3000 people, there were thirteen churches with twelve ministers living or existing in the place."

"Heretofore, missionary boards were considered a failure unless they reported new churches. Now their work is elimination and the prevention of overlapping with unnecessary churches. And the same program is being followed in foreign missionary work. In the new inter-church world movement, 30 of the greatest churches have started the work on a five year program and have already shown great results. They are going into heathen lands to make, not secretaries, but Christians. At home, they, by a united effort, did away with commercialized visit in the United States army and in many cases have solved the problems of evangelism."

"It has been a good year for evangelists. Various cities have found out that they did not need to wait for years for a professional evangelist but with proper organization could do the work themselves."

"Two sailors who were near to blows in an argument as to whether a button was sewed on right or not, heard the signal of distress and were united in their effort to give assistance to a sinking ship. Something similar has happened to the churches. They have joined discussing how buttons should be sewed on or whether hooks and eyes should be used instead of buttons. They have heard the signal of distress and with one great purpose have gone to work earnestly to answer the Savior's prayer that the world may believe."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.
At the First Christian church, Rev. H. A. Van Winkle continued his series showing how the true and worthy have been mistaken and swallowed up by the false and unworthy.

In his talk last night on "Business and Politics," he said: "The greatest business is God's business. Our business is not apart from but a part of His business. Whatever we do in word or deed do all in the name of the Lord."

"Every man entered in constructive business is a worker with God. The farmer, merchant and educator are all God's servants. But business suddenly becomes a destructive lean cow when it is transformed into a monopoly. When children are robbed of bread, butter and meat in the name of business it has become the devil's business. It is here better for a man to have a millstone tied to his neck and be drowned

"U.S. WON WAR FOR ENTENTE" ---ERZBERGER

BERLIN, June 1 via London June 2.—"It was America's intervention that brought victory to the entente." This declaration was made to the International News Service today by Dr. Matthias Erzberger, chairman of the German armistice commission. The German revolution was essentially the result of the proclamation of President Wilson's fourteen points, which convinced the German people that they only had to smash the old military system to secure democracy in their own country and prove honest their efforts for friendship with the whole world," continued Erzberger.

In the depths of the sea than to starve one of these little ones. When arms are stored full and the owner's cars are closed to the cry of the starving masses the loan cow of monopoly has swallowed up the business of the honest man who would be satisfied to live and let live. Politics rather than vice versa. Taft showed statesmanship in standing for a great idea though it was sponsored by a man of another party. What a contrast he presents to the 40 senators! Some have characterized theirs as a rare act. It was worse than rare, it was rare."

"Politics was used against Christ when religious leaders said he was a blasphemer and when they told the Roman leaders he refused to pay tribute and made himself a king. And after working the crowd into a frenzy they used the old political steam roller on Pilate to put it over, the business figure and statesmanship of Christ stand out in his statement: 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you.'"

COUNTY INFIRMARY.
Instead of picnicking on yesterday's hot Sunday afternoon as they might with all propriety have done, about 40 young people took their cutting by carrying cheer to the patients at the county hospital.

The Park Congregationalists had good services in the old ladies building and distributed flowers and visited the lower camp.

The First Alameda young people held services in the church and hospital. The Fruitvale Presbyterians visited all the wards.

Next Sunday, the Christian Endeavorers are planning to hold a meeting at Arroyo Sanatorium at Livermore; also a big meeting at the county infirmary.

WINNIPEG, Mann, June 2.—Street cars will be operated on the streets of this city today for the first time since the strike was called on May 15. The street railway company made this announcement today, and at the same time municipal authorities announced that 15,000 troops, the majority but recently returned from overseas, are being held in readiness in the event of any effort to interfere with the service.

Municipal authorities say the next twenty-four hours will decide the fate of the strike. If the city passes through the next twenty-four hours without serious trouble the "backbone" of the strike will have been broken and normal conditions will follow rapidly.

CHARGES SOVIET PLAN.

THE MONOPOLY PLEADS.

In his testimony before the Interstate Commerce committee of the lower chamber of Congress, Mr. Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, confirmed in a highly interesting manner all that The TRIBUNE has said of the government's act in seizing the telephone, telegraph and cable companies. Postmaster-General Burleson has yielded completely to the monopolists of communication utilities—all along the line.

It has previously been shown how Mr. Theodore N. Vail, head of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, had been given charge of every telephone utility in the country. Mr. Carlton, who directs the destinies of the Western Union telegraph and cable companies, which maintain most friendly relations with the telephone corporation, testified that he advised Mr. Burleson to seize the cable companies. This was promptly done and the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, the chief competitor of the interests directed by Messrs. Vail and Carlton, turned over to the tender mercies of these gentlemen.

The monopoly was complete. There was no competition. Mr. Burleson gave it the appearance of federal character and lent it the authority of a government bureaucrat to increase charges upon the public according to the will and audacity of the actual directors of the monopoly.

The increases in rates have been large, as every telephone subscriber knows. Now Mr. Carlton, Mr. Vail and Mr. N. C. Kingsbury, that clever publicity man and political intermediary of the telephone interests with the title of vice-president with Mr. Burleson's support, want Congress to pass a law perpetuating the rates which have been imposed and the monopoly which has been created.

Surely Congress will not venture to fix arbitrarily, without any investigation of actual operating conditions, rates of telephone and telegraph charges. Adequate machinery for rate-fixing already exists—in the public utilities commissions of the several States in the case of telephone companies and in the Interstate Commerce Commission in the case of the telegraph and cable companies.

Congress experimented in price fixing in the case of 1919 wheat; the cost to the people of the United States will be approximately one billion dollars! It is unthinkable that the Congress will in time of peace violate every principle and tenet of good business, official morals and legislative wisdom by fixing telegraph, telephone and cable rates by law.

Congress would do well to consider the view of the officials of the rival company of the Burleson-nursed monopoly. President Mackay of the Postal says:

"We have nothing to do with the scheme for having Congress raise the telephone rates, but we object to any conditions being attached to the return of the telegraph lines. The first thing is to get the telegraph lines back into the hands of the two companies and let them compete and give good public service and put the rates back where they were."

The public, suffering under the government dictatorship over the communication utilities, will heartily endorse this program.

WAILS FROM THE GUILTY.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, who has been elected to communicate the fake complaints and the shallow lies of Germany in connection with the proposed peace treaty, performs his duty in a inglorious manner in the letter covering the rejoinder the Ebert government makes to the peace conditions. "It is more than Germany can bear." How fatuous this statement! The Allies have so designed the enforcement provisions of the treaty that Germany can bear them. They might easily have been unbearable, but that would not have meant compliance. The adversaries demand compliance, so they have planned means by which Germany can fulfill the conditions.

This is the thing that really hurts. The Berlin government knows that compliance is possible and that Germany will not be permitted to escape. The occupation of the Rhine provinces, the economic entente cordiale of the Allied countries, the sinister ring of distrust that will envelop Germany until the treaty is fulfilled in good faith, are the things Germany dislikes and fears.

It is useless to attempt to justify the peace terms on the suppositions conditions Germany would have imposed had she been victorious in the war. In that case comparisons would have been out of the question. There would have been open annexations of Allied countries, brutal subjugation of Allied peoples. If one should proceed on the basis of "what would Germany have done?" in prescribing the punishment for Germany under Allied victory the task would be much easier. For then there would be an Allied government for all Germany and the people of that country would be subject to foreign sovereignty.

THE CREDIT SITUATION.

Reports from Washington are to the effect that cabinet officials and the members of the Federal Reserve Board are considering a plan to create a national trust society, the purpose of which will be to maintain a revolving credit which will tend to stabilize exchange and allow merchants and manufacturers to establish fair markets in countries where the dollar is now at such a premium as to prohibit the purchase of American goods. The plan is understood to have so far progressed as to permit its early presentation to Congress.

This trust society would be largely patterned after the investment trust organizations in Scotland and England, which have demonstrated their financial success. The proposed capital is $1,000,000,000 and the United States government would hold a controlling interest and would own half the debentures issued, the other half being sold to manufacturers, exporters and national banks. These debentures would be issued against long term notes of foreign governments and banks, which would be allowed to establish credits here, and which, in their turn, would be able to extend them to their citizens and depositors at a rate which could be fixed in the several foreign countries where the purchase of American goods is desired.

This suggestion is one of many that have recently been advanced for the solution of the serious problem of arranging an exchange of credits, which will make possible the desired exchange of commodities among trading nations. Business, manufacturing, exporting and financial interests realize that something must be done. The national trust idea represents the tendency in some quarters to turn to the federal government for help. There are many persons, however, who believe private business and finance may and should solve the problem without paternalistic assistance from the government. Certainly the latter procedure is preferable if it is possible. The situation is admittedly serious, and the most profound consideration should be given any suggestion for pledging the government to so positive an interest as that based on ownership in the financial and commodity exchanges of international commerce.

War trade and financial operations have, in the view of many interested observers, given the United States a credit balance that is top-heavy. Advances to the Allies on government account have totaled over $9,000,000,000. Foreign government loans privately negotiated—before this country entered the war—amount to approximately $2,000,000,000. Thus foreign countries are obligated to pay to the United States about $600,000,000 annually in interest alone. Then they require for reconstruction purposes American products in quantity that will continue for some time to give the United States a credit balance on the international trade sheet.

To hope to make these payments through the shipment of gold coin or bullion is out of the question. Consequently the problem of international credit is at present more acute than it has been at any time during the war. Several factors must enter into its solution. A national trust company with a billion dollars capital might help considerably, but it would not alone be adequate. Other arrangements must and doubtless will be made, and through them the supremacy of the dollar in the world exchange markets ought to be more firmly established.

It has been asserted that the President's famous advice to the national electorate to return a Democratic Congress as a patriotic duty was inspired by Postmaster-General Burleson. Whoever was responsible for the monumental blunder, he appears to have been at it again through the wine and beer recommendation. The longer time the digression as to wine and beer has to percolate through the public understanding, the less impression it makes. The booze question is a touchy one and it is demonstrated that an effort to unsettle it, even from this high quarter, has not made a hit.

Someone claims to have ascertained from the official roster that but seven soldiers named after the successful general in the Civil War were enrolled in the American army that went over to fight the Huns, while seventy-nine were named after Robert E. Lee, who was the great personality on the defeated side. How is this to be accounted for? Possibly, for one reason, because the name "Lee" isn't a very catching one; but largely, without doubt, because the South cherishes its heroes while the North becomes absorbed in other things and forgets. Still, there is a remarkable discrepancy, if the figures are to be relied upon.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Washington Post is responsible for a new invention, "alfalfa legislatures." A close definition is not vouchsafed, but as alfalfa is most successfully grown in irrigated regions, it may apply to the west; though here is confusion, for the designation appears in an item that treats of boosting the league of nations proposition. The west hasn't done that, at least with unanimity. Just where the alfalfa legislatures are located is uncertain.

There is much curiosity as to why Secretary Daniels changed his mind about the national requirements as to a navy. Two months ago he wanted a mighty armada, but very recently he favored just a few ships. In anybody but Daniels it would be a matter of real surprise.

We see in such a unhygienic publication as the Portland Oregonian a heading, "Lineup for Wood Steadily Growing." It tops a despatch from the Oregonian's Washington bureau. Which is some evidence that the general's presidential boom is growing.

Evidently a prodigious propaganda has been organized and is at work in favor of the league of nations as proposed by the Paris conference. This is not necessarily to be reprehended, but it is obvious that considerable expense is involved, and it would be interesting to know what persons or interests are putting up the money.

The Hohenzollerns are not yet entirely in the discard from a news point of view. A visit of the former crown prince to his brother, without purpose so far as it appears, is considered worthy of a cable despatch.

That 50 per cent more Rebekahs than Odd Fellows attended the Oregon grand lodge session is explainable, the Oregonian suggests, in the fact that somebody had to stay at home—with the accent on "some."

The Richmond News expresses itself as to some disinterested advice: "Laura Jean Libby says when folks fall in love they should remain calm. Now, look here, Laura Jean, we just can't be calm and fall in love at the same time, any more than a fire department can go slow while responding to a hurry-up alarm. And there ain't no difference between falling in love and a fire alarm, anyhow."

The Chico Enterprise leaves it to the reader to connect up the references to crop and pulchritude: "There is every reason for belief that the peach crop this year elsewhere as well as in Butte county will be close to 100 per cent. The bathing girl illustrations in the papers are therefore timely and appropriate."

The returning soldier who telegraphed that he was "demobilized, delighted and deloused," had an eye for business in avoiding unnecessary telegraph tolls, as well as expressing himself in a brief and clear manner.—Richmond Terminal.

The Red Bluff News man evidently has a predilection for sun-benders: "We admit that a man wearing a belt looks cool and comfy, but we can't escape the feeling that he is about to sustain an embarrassing loss."

From the Chico Enterprise and just a little elsewhere: "The governor of the state of California has a trade school for sacrificing a little water for a couple of years is the best news of the day."

The Willows Journal puts the frequently recurring item in rhyme: "Dear little barroom, don't you cry; you'll be a drug store bye and bye."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

The Fresno Republican is out with a leading editorial calling upon the Republicans of California to get behind the movement to nominate Senator Hiram Johnson for president on the Republican ticket. While California would be greatly honored by having one of her sons in the presidential chair, it is going to take more than the "boom" started by Chester to land the ex-governor in Wilson's chair. Hiram Johnson is not as big a figure in the Senate as he was in the governor's chair, but his greatest job will be to convince the easterners and middle westerners that California is really in the United States.—Modesto News.

So many fads and new fangled ideas are springing up that a person of normal mind cannot keep track of all of them, or digest half of them. It is a day of fads and fancies, not to mention hallucinations and pipe dreams. Between Socialistic and Bolshevik schemes, uplift dreams, sex problems, progressives, militant suffragettes, I. W. W.'s, single taxers, commission forms, town managers, tariff tinkering, new banking systems, trust-busting, moving pictures, silk skirts, apple day, orange day, mothers' day and everybody else's day except father's, a plain, old-fashioned, sane idea like this one, don't hardly know where he is at.—Richmond News.

Several of the orchardists in Suisun valley have disposed of their crops. The fruit was sold on the trees, and following are some of the amounts received: James Reams, $4800 on 11 acres of cherries, prunes and peaches; Ralph Hunnewell, $8000 on 23 acres of pears and apricots; Antonio Lewis, $4000 on 12½ acres; Marion Pangburn, $2600. Clarence Morrison probably made the largest sale, at $17,000 for the fruit on his ranch and on the Morrison home place, while Will Morrison is reported to have received $11,000 for his crop.—Fairfield Enterprise.

Although Senator Johnson has not confided to a waiting world who he is really in favor of, the suspicion gains ground that, generally speaking, it is for Johnson.—Woodland Democrat.

CHINA'S HISTORIC SHRINE

Reports that China loses her historic shrine, birthplace and home of Confucius, by transfer of the Gorkan concessions on Kinkow bay to Japan are incorrect, according to a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The tomb of Confucius, China's Mr. Vernon, is in Shantung, the bulletin states, "but of the 55,370 square miles in the Shantung province the concession leased to Japan comprises only 123 square miles. In addition Japan is given control of the railway line from Tsingtau to Tsinan-tu, Shantung's capital, with certain rights to develop mines along the right of way and to build branch lines."

In other words, the area of Shantung province is comparable to the combined area of Pennsylvania and Virginia, and the portion ceded to Japan is only a fourth larger than the territory originally cut out from Maryland and Virginia to form the District of Columbia, the southern triangle of which later was returned to Virginia.

"The completion of the Tien-Tsin-Pukow railway in 1912 opened direct communication with the sacred places of Shantung, in a sense. One express train a week to Pukow sufficed for the Shantung people, but absolutely no attention to meeting or encouraging tourist travel was made."

"One goes to the home of Confucius now as Marco Polo might have gone. Express trains do not stop at Chiu-fou station, 88 miles south of Tsinan-tu, save when great officials pass that way. The station is six miles from the town, and there is no adequate accommodation for large numbers of travelers at either place. Unless an official command opens the stone-floored yamen rooms to one bringing his bed and board with him, the trip is not to be recommended in the twentieth century, years after the opening of the railway."

"The road from the station to the town where nearly all the inhabitants are descendants or kindred of Confucius, could not be called a road elsewhere, and the springless Peking cart or a sedan chair are the only vehicles. The Duke Kung, direct descendant and present head of the great clan, expressly stipulated that the railway should not come any nearer to Chiu-fou and motors and jankishas are undreamed of."

"Beside the many temples in the city to visit there is the grave of the philosopher and his descendants in a walled park a mile beyond the city walls. The public cannot pass beyond the first gate, only officials and distinguished visitors with official letters being permitted to view the green mound and its tablets in the last enclosure. But," says the guide book, "admittance may, however, be obtained by tipping the guardian." For centuries the officials have been sent from Peking to make annual offerings at the grave of Confucius, but one does not see crowds of scholars, nor the stream of pilgrims that might be expected at this oldest shrine of the empire of 400,000,000 people.

"Tsinan-tu, 45 miles from Tsinan-tu, is the station for pilgrims making the ascent of An-shan, the Great Mountain, where worship has been continued for 2500 years. One leaves the train and is carried to the summit in a sedan chair in six hours. He descends in three hours and gets away by another accommodation train, as there is no shelter for a European in the town or on the mountain."

"A series of neglected and decaying temples that were once splendid shrines mark the ascent along a stony path worn by the feet and the floods of centuries. Inscribed tablets are on every side, and poems lifting the soul of the scholarly pilgrim all the way to the summit temple, beside which is a tall tablet marking 'the place where Confucius stood and felt the smallness of the world below.'"

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO.

Agreement between Oakland and the Standard Electric Company whereby the city is to be supplied with power for illuminating purposes is announced, together with the news that negotiations are being made with the railroad companies to furnish power for operating the car system.

Lots at San Francisco Avenue, Market and Third-fourth streets are auctioned for from $25 to $500. Thirty-two new carmen to operate the San Pablo Avenue line are being broken in, twenty having completed the apprenticeship. Increase in teachers' salaries is debated by the Board of Education.

INCOME TAX INEQUALITIES.

Inequalities of the income tax are coming to be recognized more and more, and are being freely discussed among men who think. For example: A professional man, lawyer or doctor, for instance, with a $15,000 income in New York City must necessarily spend most of it for actual living expenses for himself and family. But he pays exactly the same tax as another professional man with the same income in a smaller city who can live on much less. Two men similarly employed have a net taxable income of $1000. Health and strength are essential to the occupation of each. One expends $250 for surgical services required after an accident; the other has no such expense; both pay the same amount of income tax.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

What Science Really Knows About "Sleeping Sickness."

BY DR. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

"Sleeping sickness" is not a correct name for the disease that is claiming many victims in different parts of the country, but is a specific name reserved for an animalcular disease transferred to man from jungle animals by the bite of the African tsetse fly.

The tropical malarial is always fatal. The new sleep infection now prevalent is nearly always recoverable.

"Encephalitis lethargica," or lethargic inflammation of the cerebrum or gray matter of the brain, is a disease new to present investigators, although on three previous occasions, namely, in Vienna in 1917, in Italy in 1890, and in various parts of Europe in 1895 after an influenza epidemic similar to the one in 1918, and somnolence were observed. The present epidemic of encephalitis or infectious sleepingness was first recorded by the medical research committee of the local government board of Great Britain in February 1918. The recent records of these English physicians recognize the disease as an infection due to an ultra-microscopic virus similar to the hydrophobia virus.

The microbes or animalcules, too small to see with the human eye or the microscope, enter the lymph or other tissue fluids by way of the nose throat or skin and inflame the invaded gray matter.

Both the gray and white matter of the cerebrum show small bleeding points. The membrane which holds the brain is called the meninges, and also is affected and congested in a new form of meningitis.

This sleeping malarial closely resembles infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis, but it assaults the brain instead of the spinal cord.

Prof. Economo and an assistant, investigators of the Hungarian epidemic, made an oily emulsion of the brain of a fatal instance, and injected it into the meninges of a monkey.

The animal died in forty-six hours with symptoms of stupor, which had lasted twenty-four hours. Comas, which were recovered from this monkey's brain, were injected into apes, produced somnolence and mental lethargy.

This strange epidemic lethargy reported in Baltimore, Chicago, New York and other cities, is accompanied by a fever of 101 or 102 degrees. Some throatitis, bronchitis, red eyes and fainting attacks may precede the stupor, drowsy, sleeping lethargy. Heavy eyelids, pain in the eyes, dizziness and headache may be complained. Mental depression, melancholia, weakness and perhaps crosses or feeling of guilt may be mentioned by the patient.

Sooner or later the victim may be unable to move a muscle, or give expression to his face, which appears mask-like or there may be paralysis of the face muscles. The voice sometimes becomes monotonous, nasal and raucous, and words are slurred or lisped.

The victim and his relatives are generally much alarmed, yet four out of five patients have a complete recovery and restoration to health.

No known method of treating this malady has been discovered as yet. Warmth, rest in bed, tapping of the spinal fluid, purgatives and baths are effective as a relief to the pain and sleepiness.

The dawn of a specific treatment, however, seems near. Numerous scientists and medical research workers are put to it to find a vaccine, an anti-serum, or an exact chemical equivalent to conquer this "nona" or lethargic encephalitis.

FEDERAL AID FOR HIGH-ST. BRIDGE ASKED

Thirty industries on the Oakland estuary today petitioned the Board of Supervisors for a modern bridge to replace the obsolete structure at High street, and the board, following a discussion, unanimously passed a resolution appealing for federal aid in meeting the requirements.

The resolution was asked by Chairman J. F. Mullins and proposed by Supervisor W. J. Hamilton, who called attention to the fact that since the present bridges were built by the government, the traffic on the estuary has increased to such enormous proportions as to deserve government aid in providing new facilities.

When the government completed the present bridges, they were accepted with the understanding that the county would provide their maintenance and replacement.

CHANNEL WIDENED.

Within the past year, it was pointed out in the petition presented on behalf of a new High street bridge, the government has expended $250,000 widening the channel to 300 feet with a depth of 15 feet from Park street to San Leandro Bay, all the distance being above the area useful at the time the bridges were built, and within the past year one industry alone, the Pacific Tank and Pipe Company, with a $1,000,000 plant on the upper end of the channel, has docked 123 ships with a total tonnage of 74,000 tons.

Alameda county prior to the war voted bonds in the sum of $1,000,000 for a new bridge at Webster street, but the construction was postponed at the request of the war department, on account of war necessities. By reason of that fact, it is pointed out, cost of production has greatly increased and providing an additional bridge at High street would run the tax rate up materially.

It is claimed, further, that the estuary traffic, by reason of war time shipbuilding development and otherwise, has increased beyond all expectations, so much so that the bridges provided by the government are altogether inadequate, whereas under conditions as anticipated they would have served for a considerable longer period.

The matter will be presented to the representatives in Congress immediately with a request for early consideration.

The petition for the High street bridge was signed by the following firms: Wilson Brothers, Hobbs-Wall Company, Pye-Wilson, Charles Nelson Company, A. F. Mahoney, Navarro Lumber Company, Sudden & Christensen, California Transportation Company, C. R. McCormick, Hart Wood Lumber Company, Little River Lumber Company, Union Lumber Company, Oakland Launch and Tugboat Company, Ship Owners' Association, S. and M. Tugboat Company, Dow Pump Company, Powell Brothers, Standard Gas Engine Company, Union Gas Engine Company, American Can Company, Rhodes-Jamieson Company, Hutchinson Company, W. E. Hampton Company, Pacific Tank and Pipe Company, American Dredging Company, Sunset Lumber Company, E. K. Wood Lumber Company, Barnes & Tibbitts, T. J. Barbour and the San Francisco Bridge Company.

NEW DOCK AREA OPENED.

It was announced that the government is about to let a contract for the widening of the channel to 300 feet all the way to San Leandro bay, which, when it is completed, will make available a large new area for the docking of ocean going vessels, greatly extending the development possibility of the upper channel regions, and the petition set out that the government's expenditure of $250,000 has been more than duplicated by the private firms in providing docks and other facilities, exclusive of plants. The army engineers are now considering a project to make the depth for the entire distance thirty feet.

Ten Eastbay soldiers, seven of whom are Oaklandians, and one each from Berkeley and Alameda, members of the Twenty-fifth Engineers, a California unit, who, 270 strong, were homeward bound from an eastern port came near losing their lives when the troop train encountered a washout on the Burlington road, 25 miles this side of Omaha, just before daybreak this morning, and ran into the Platte river. One hundred and fifty soldiers were in the five cars that left the track and stopped in the river. The water raced through the aisles like a torrent, submerging the berths in which the men were asleep. Twenty-seven were injured more or less severely and are being cared for at Fort Omaha.

Citizens Unite in War on Epidemic Among Children

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—An epidemic of bacterial dysentery, which already has caused the death of three children, has appeared in the Antelope valley, about fifty miles northeast of Los Angeles, according to a statement by Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, Los Angeles County health officer.

Twenty-five other cases have been isolated, said Dr. Pomeroy, who has organized a committee of one hundred men and women at Lancaster, in the valley, to conduct a campaign to stamp out the epidemic. Gavin Teleser, district state health officer, is co-operating.

The broken windows and swimming ashore, E. L. Gray, of Oakland, acted as song leader and the men, unafraid, wet and shivering, joined in "How We Go to Keep 'Em Down on the Farm."

THOUGHT THEY WERE STILL IN THE TRENCHES

The lightning was flashing vividly and the thunder was rolling in the heavens. Dazed by the experience and sudden awakening, many of them thought that they had dreamed they were homeward bound and believed they were still in the trenches.

None of the contingent was killed and all are being cared for at Fort Omaha, where they arrived minus clothing and suffering from cold. New clothing was supplied from the quartermaster's department. They will be held forty-eight hours from the time of the accident before they resume their trip.

The wreck was caused by a cloud-burst which broke shortly after midnight and so weakened the track that when the ten cars of the heavy troop train struck it the side next to the river gave way and precipitated three sleepers, a kitchen car and a baggage car into the water.

E. L. Gray of Oakland, who led the men in song, did so in spite of the fact that he had lost his pipe, companion of all his experiences in the war. All the men in the five submerged coaches lost their entire belongings—clothing, souvenirs, watches and money.

Richard Simon, 1668 O'Farrell street, San Francisco, was in a car in which there were five or six feet of water. He was in a lower berth and was the first man out of his car.

"When I found the water all over everything, I just kicked my way through the window and got out," said Simon. "That's how I got both of my legs cut so badly. After I got out I had to swim to the shore, but I was on the shore side of the train, so that was not much. I had to make my way by light from the lightning because when the train struck everything went dark."

SAYS RABBIT TOUCH WAS LUCKY FOR HIM

Corporal Chester G. Kinnear, 3001 High street, Oakland, said a rabbit saved his life. He said:

"I was sleeping in a lower berth when I found myself in two feet of water. When I shoved my head through a broken window, I found myself stuck in the frame. The car was settling down further into the creek when I reached up to pull myself out by main force. My hand touched a half-drowned rabbit, crumpling between two ties.

"If a rabbit's foot is lucky, the whole rabbit ought to be lucky. I thought, and I finally yanked myself loose from the frame, and I'm taking my bunny home to Oakland. A fellow in one of the other cars gave me and bunny a blanket, and that's all the clothes we have between us."

2 KILLED, 12 HURT IN DAY'S AUTO WRECKS

Two dead, twelve injured, is the Sunday auto accident toll listed today around the bay. Auto and motorcycle crashes, a train collision at Richmond and other mishaps were the causes.

Tom McPeake, who is deaf and dumb, was fatally injured and Edward McDuff, proprietor of the St. Francis Hotel, Richmond, and former councilman of that city, received a broken leg and other injuries last night when the car in which they were crossing the Southern Pacific tracks at Twenty-third street and Pullman avenue, Richmond, was struck by an east-bound Southern Pacific train. Both men were taken to the Crocker Hospital, where McPeake died shortly after midnight. McDuff will recover. His right leg was broken in two places.

According to the report of the accident made to the police the automobile stalled on the rails. J. C. Read, riding with McDuff and McPeake, escaped injury by jumping.

Samuel Pick, 551 Tenth avenue, is dead, the result of an accident near Fairfield, Sonoma county, when the machine he was driving overturned, pinning himself, his wife and several children beneath the car. Pick was killed almost instantly. Mrs. Pick was badly cut and bruised and the children were slightly hurt. The party was on the way to Boyes Springs for a summer outing.

Abraham Orloff, 123 Lexington avenue, San Francisco, was badly injured when his machine crashed into a post about a precipice on the Rockaway Beach road. His sister, Mrs. Frank Goldstein, and nephew, Walter Goldstein, were in the car with him, but escaped serious injury.

RUN DOWN BY AUTO.

Albert Robinson, a Pasadena school teacher, was run down and severely injured by an automobile driven by George Roth at Sixteenth and Valencia streets, San Francisco.

John McKay was injured on Fillmore street, San Francisco, when his machine ran into a Municipal Railway car.

Miss Marie Meyer of Fruitvale was killed in a collision when the automobile of J. C. Scallan of Berkeley struck another, driven by W. R. Osborn. She was treated for cuts and bruises at the Oakland Emergency Hospital. The others escaped unhurt.

Joe Reyes of Vallejo was struck by an auto truck owned by a Vallejo construction company while working on street improvements in that city. He is suffering from cuts and bruises. Melroy Doran, an electrician at the Mare Island Navy Yards, was thrown off a motorcycle he was riding on the Springs road, and was found unconscious. He will recover.

EXPLODES IN AUTO.

Albert Meade of 6 Van Buren court died of an attack of heart disease while riding in an automobile with his wife at Warm Springs yesterday afternoon. Meade, who was 70 years old, was an insurance adjuster with offices in San Francisco.

Paradise Found in California by the Beautiful Lady Bug

The lady bug no longer cares if her house is on fire and her children will burn. The brilliant bug in an invading army of millions has spied out the land and taken possession of the strongholds. The lady bug is in California to stay. Alameda County has its full share of the invading forces.

From Marysville comes word that during the past few days millions of bugs have swarmed in Wood's ravine in larger numbers than ever before.

According to authorities of the University of California, the lady bug's arrival is due entirely to the plant lice which have covered plants and trees through the early season. The plentiful and luscious lady bug diet has attracted the army which for several years has been called upon to Hooverize.

SHOT AFTER HE SIGNS PACT TO SUPPORT WOMAN

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—Jesse D. Batchelder, prominent realty man, is in a hospital suffering from a bullet wound in his stomach. Chas. E. Collins, salesman, is under arrest charged with shooting Batchelder and today the police have possession of a remarkable agreement alleged to have been made between Batchelder and Collins, which is said to have been the cause of the shooting.

The agreement provides that for "full consideration" and in view of the fact that "certain differences have arisen in the domestic affairs of the parties hereto," Batchelder agrees to support Collins' wife, Alaud Lillian Collins, for the remainder of her life.

Batchelder charges that Collins became jealous despite the agreement and shot him when they met on Vermont avenue late yesterday.

That word MUTUAL

WITH THIS institution "mutual" means a combination of many for the protection of all.

It means—with this institution—that the most modest investor (yes, even as low as a dollar a month) has his investment protected by first-class first mortgages on real estate.

And that investment is not only protected individually, but collectively also!

We believe we have the most attractive form of investment possible for those who can put by but a dollar or two or a thousand.

CHAUFFEUR IS
AUTO HOLDUP

Maurice Halpern, chauffeur of Sacramento, and one of the men who asserted that he was robbed by highwaymen near Rodas last night, is held in the Contra Costa county jail in Martinez on suspicion that he was a party to the crime, which cost David Zamore, Sacramento jeweler, some $3000 in money and jewelry.

There are several circumstances that led the Contra Costa authorities to believe themselves warranted in holding Halpern on a robbery charge. Halpern is one of a few persons who know that Zamore was missed by Zamore's trip, and he had left it with Mrs. Halpern before starting on the trip. When searched at Martinez, however, the pin was found attached to the inside of Halpern's vest. Halpern asserts his innocence and also asserts he has no idea who the robbers were.

Zamore and Halpern left Sacramento early last night by automobile for Oakland. Just before they reached Pinole, they say, another automobile crowded ahead of them, slowing down and forcing them to stop. The three bandits leaped out, forced the two men to give up the jewelry and money, and handcuffed them to poles, where they were found some time later by "Chief" Evans, a powder mill watchman.

A deserted automobile, believed to be either that of the robbers or the two victims, was found this morning by the police which further incriminated the bandits took refuge in Oakland. The machine was at San Pablo avenue and Schmidt way. The Berkeley police last night arrested a suspect, who still under investigation, and whose name they will not make public.

Posses were sent out from Pinole and Richmond immediately after the robbery was reported. In a search for the two outlaws, one of the bandits having driven off the machine, in which the two victims were driving. The victim did not know the number of the machine of the bandits.

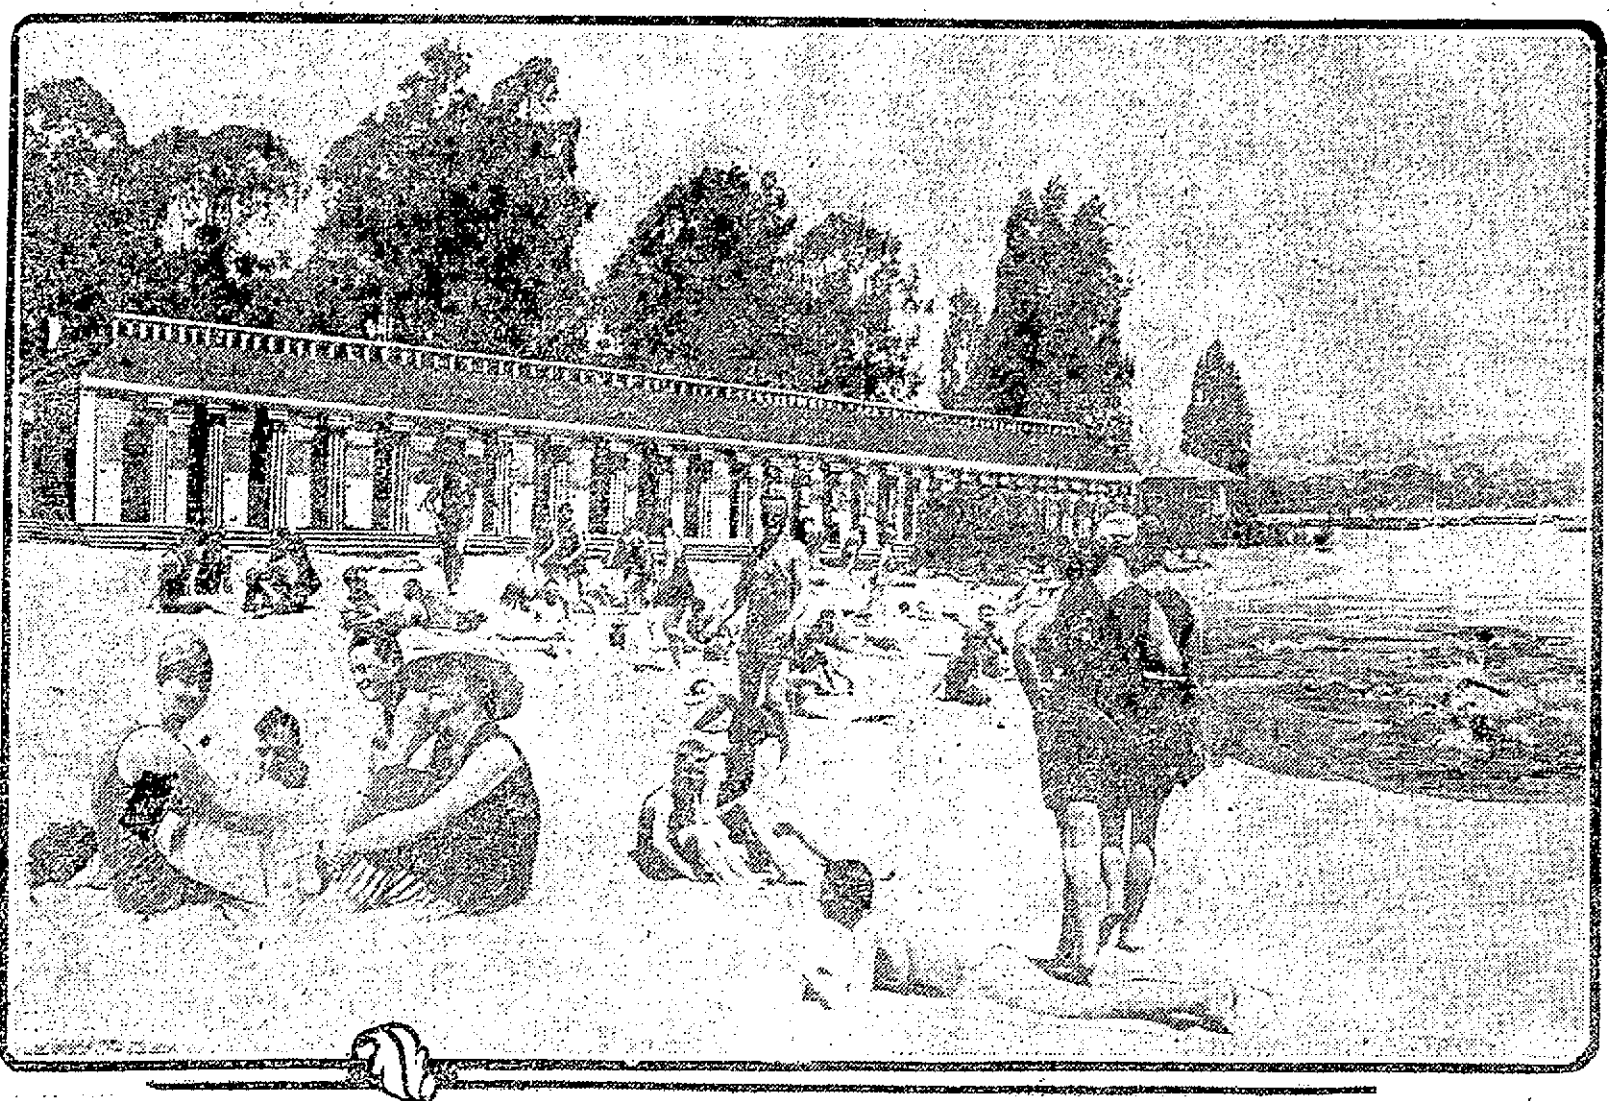

Zamore, who operates a store in Sacramento, was taking a number of watches and some diamonds to Oakland to exchange. He had employed Halpern from a Sacramento garage to drive him here. The two carried $500 in coin with them, besides the jewelry, valued at $2400.

STOWAWAY MAY BE MURDERER

That Roy Wolff, alias Denner, with a $2000 price on his head, who eluded the police here after escaping from Bakersfield and coming to this city, following the murder of Elmer E. Greer, a chauffeur, may be under arrest about the steamer Williamette, according to word received by wireless today. Wolff was traced from Merced to Oakland, where the trail suddenly ended. Acting on a tip that he had boarded the Williamette for Portland, the police wirelessly the vessel. The radio answered that a stowaway, giving his name as Roy Nelson, and fitting Wolff's description, was found on the boat, and was being held in irons. He will be put ashore at Seattle and brought back to California.

Wolff is accused of slaying Greer with a hammer, stealing his automobile and abandoning it near Merced where he boarded a train for Oakland. A reward of $2000 is offered for his arrest by the Kern county authorities.

Pavilion and Cafe on Made Island in Center of Lake, Part of Mayor's Idea

Oakland is not only to have an ideal lakeside bathing beach, under the plan of Mayor John L. Davis for the development of Lake Merritt, for which $500,000 of the school bond issue is to be devoted, but will, at the same time, develop an aviation field.

This was suggested today by the engineers who made a preliminary study of the plan. The dredging from the lake, the experts say, will not only form the "island," in the middle of the estuary, but will also fill in the mud flat just south of the railroad tracks on the Estuary, adjoining the Hamilton shipyard. Half of this "made land" is to be taken over by the shipyard. The other

YOSEMITE DRIVE TO END IN WEEK

With only one week remaining in the drive of the Yosemite Valley Highway Association to raise $1,000,000 to guarantee the construction of a paved, year-round highway from Merced to Yosemite, hundreds of volunteer workers throughout California are redoubting their efforts to dispose of the 35 certificates of the national park.

Two hundred thousand of the $5 certificates must be disposed of before the State Highway Commission will undertake the work of constructing the paved boulevard. The campaign will close June 7 and Chairman Rudolph Spreckels expects all of the certificates to be sold by that date.

Northern and Southern California are engaging in a friendly certificate selling contest. Southern California campaign chairman, Carl E. McGraw, declares that more than half of the total issue of entry slips will be disposed of south of Tehachapi. The proposed road, when completed, will enable motorists to gain admission to Yosemite 265 days in the year. Existing highways are blocked with snow during a great part of the year. The proposed highway will have a maximum elevation of 2965 feet and a maximum grade of 7 per cent, the official surveys show.

Each certificate will be good for

WOMAN BACKS
SIBERIAN GOLD
FIELD SEARCH

Is a woman's faith and a woman's perseverance to be rewarded by the discovery of gold in such quantities as to make the discoveries of the men insignificant by comparison?

Is the expedition that now is just beyond the Golden Gate in the famous schooner Casco bound for Northeastern Siberia, destined to find the placer treasure trove that tradition has located somewhere on a wide river that extends from the coast of the Bering Sea more than 1000 miles into the Siberian wilderness?

These are questions that friends of Miss Lillian Thrall and of the thirty men aboard the Casco are asking. Also the questions are being asked by a number of old miners who know of some who started into the Siberian wilderness and never have been heard from or of since.

Miss Thrall is behind the success of the Casco's starting. Her faith in the belief that L. S. McGurk, the leader of the party, is the only living man who knows the location of the golden treasure has been the mainstay of the expedition so far. Again and again she thwarted attempts to obtain the secret of the location of the gold fields.

Other expeditions are straining every effort to get their outfit ready for an early start. The American motorship Ozmo, which secretly outfitted here, is still at Seattle. Other vessels are being made ready at other ports on the Pacific Coast.

The Casco itself has a romantic history. Built more than forty years ago by Dr. Merritt for a pleasure trip to the South Seas, the vessel was later sold to Robert Louis Stevenson. He took her to the South Seas and it was aboard the Casco that he wrote many of his charming stories of South Sea life.

Of the exact location of the rich gold deposits McGurk is said to have obtained from the only survivor of a party of four men who five years ago came out of the north with $120,000 in gold.

McGurk organized the Northern Mining and Trading Company, as the expedition is known. McGurk first took Alvin Johnson, First National Bank, into his confidence, and soon the party grew to thirty, who each put $1000 into a fund for the purchase and outfitting of the Casco.

If the party fails in reaching the gold deposits which will provide every member of the party with a fortune, the expedition will not be an entire loss because the Casco is outfitted for a permanent stay and it is planned to trade in furs.

Captain C. L. Oliver, former navy officer, is in charge of the vessel. C. M. Hawley is first mate and J. E. Lutz, second mate.

Miss Thrall, an investor in the Casco expedition, plans to make the trip to Vladivostok and then by rail overland to meet the party at the gold fields.

Forgets Spiritual
Pledge in Divorce;
Takes Second Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—When in the midst of endeavoring to define and place the whereabouts of heaven, George J. Taylor, philosopher and lecturer, and Mrs. Marie cult, last March discovered that "their spiritual studies did not harmonize with their earthly plans" they sought relief in the courts and obtained a divorce. They pledged themselves to maintain a spiritual relationship between San Francisco, where Taylor lived, and New York, where Mrs. Taylor continued her studies.

On Saturday at midnight, Miss Zentgraf Taylor, student of the Occidental University, 254 Twenty-second avenue, became the bride of the former student of mysticism at the Hotel St. Francis. Taylor declares that no telegraphic transmissions or missives came from New York to cheer him.

He has foregone philosophy for the romance of the moving picture world. He has purchased an interest in a Los Angeles concern and with Mrs. Taylor leaves for the south tomorrow.

Taylor and his first wife had planned to enter the ancient temples of the philosophers of India. Their romance had its beginning in 1918 in Los Angeles, where Marie Zentgraf, heiress to $1,000,000 from the estate of her late father, was a student of Dr. Julia Sater.

DARING DASH
FOR LIBERTY
FRUSTRATED

James McCormick, in the city jail charged with grand larceny, made a daring attempt to escape this morning and would have succeeded but for the timely interference of Eddie Hughes, patrol wagon officer.

McCormick was taken from the jail about 9 o'clock, and locked in with a number of other prisoners to await the opening of Judge Samuels' court. The doors of the docket were locked and it attracted no interest until McCormick dropped from the transom of the jury room into the crowded corridor and started for the stairway.

THANNOX AN EXIT. He had climbed through the transom of the docket into the jury room and then through the transom of the jury room into the corridor.

Officer Hughes saw the prisoner drop out of the transom and grabbed him as he started for the stairway. This is the third time an escape has been planned from the docket room. On one occasion four men successively made their way into the corridors of the city hall and were later arrested before they could get out of the building. On another occasion a "hop fiend" attempted to get away by the same exit.

ACCUSED PICKPOCKET. McCormick is charged with attempting to pick the pockets of Police Officer Stephen Connolly on a crowded San Pablo car. Connolly caught him in the act and promptly escorted him to the city jail.
